During May each year, Balelec, an open-air music festival is hosted at EPFL in Place Cosandey. It attracts >15000 people each year. This space lacks shelter during the summer for students and festival goers to take refuge from the harsh heat and sun.

Place Cosandey EPFL. Geometric buildings line the background with a huge concrete slab having been placed on the ground.

Amid a bustling campus, sunlit sails stretch skyward, offering shade to the throngs below. Seated figures congregate in clusters, surrounded by verdure, engaging in the day's discourse. The architecture melds with nature, its canopy a shield against the day's glare, a sanctuary where academia's pulse quietly thrums.

In the heart of a courtyard, where shadows play, Canvas wings bloom in array. Beneath the leaf's dappled light, tales unwind, While laughter and chatter are carried on the wind.
