

5 context

// city of dogs

The challenge at hand encompasses the intersection of overcrowded urban shelters, resource constraints, and societal biases against stray dogs, intensifying the risk of euthanasia. Finding a solution demands a holistic approach that not only transforms urban spaces but also fosters understanding and empathy within the community towards shelter and stray dogs alike.

to be adopted

reimagined interactive animal shelter

The design concept revolves around an interactive haven where shelter and stray dogs engage with the community, featuring designated play zones, educational kiosks, and adoption events. By prioritizing dynamic interactions and fostering a nurturing environment, the concept aims to provide abandoned dogs with a better quality of life, while simultaneously educating the community to increase the uptake of these deserving companions.

Inspiration: Maya Lin's Landart Image